SEYMOUR, INDIANA, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1914

PRICE TWO CENTS

LOCAL MERCHANTS GUARANTEE AMOUNT

B. & O. S-W. Asked to Run Special
Train to Sparksville Each
Saturday Night.

MINIMUM EXPENSE IS $50

Trial Service Until After Holidays
Will be Very Convenient for Residents of Towns to West.

At a meeting of the Seymour Retail Merchants' Association Monday night final arrangements were completed to guarantee the amount required to pay the expenses of a special train between this city and Sparksville each Saturday night from now until after the holidays. The matter has been before the Association for some time and several plans have been suggested. The residents of the smaller towns west of here are especially interested in the plan and it was at their instance that the question was taken up by the Merchants' Association.

Some time ago the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad Company made a proposition to the Association to run a special train to Sparksville each Saturday night provided the Association would guarantee one hundred tickets to the final destination. The fare between this city and Sparksville is fifty cents which means that $50 must be guaranteed. A paper was circulated among the merchants of the city and about $35 was subscribed. The Retail Merchants' Association then passed a resolution to make up the difference out of the treasury of the organization.

It is hoped that the B. & O. Southwestern Company will agree to the plan today or tomorrow so that the first special can be operated Saturday night. Under the plan the Association will make up the difference between the amount of the ticket sale and the sum guaranteed. The merchants were anxious to meet the request of the people of the towns to the west and it was not until they asked for the train that any serious consideration was given to the matter.

The intention is to run the train each Saturday night until after Christmas upon the guarantee given and then a petition will be filed with the Railroad Company to continue it to any point west of here that the officials would deem advisable. It is not known at this time what action the company will take regarding the petition but it is believed that the train will more than pay for itself after it has been operated for several weeks and the public knows that it will have a means for returning home at a reasonable hour.

The train will probably leave the local station about 10 o'clock as that will give visitors sufficient time to complete their shopping and attend the electric theaters if they desire. Residents of the towns to the west may reach Seymour at 9 o'clock in the morning or at 4:30 in the afternoon and with the new train that has been asked for can return home at a convenient hour and have the entire day in Seymour if they so desire. Residents of Brownstown, Medora, Vallonia and Sparksville will be par-

MEN WHO ROBBED SCOTT COUNTY HOME HAVE ESCAPED

Sheriff Has Been Unable to Get Any Trace of Burglars Who Entered Stacy Home.

The two "hold-up men" who robbed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Stacy, near Scottsburg, have made a complete escape and the Scott county officers have been unable to find any trace of them. All the towns and cities in southern Indiana were notified of the theft and asked to watch for the men.

The thieves entered the house and one of them commanded that Mr. Stacy surrender. Despite the threatening manner of the robber and the revolver that was pointed at him Mr. Stacy put up a fight and would have overpowered the man it not been for timely assistance of his "pal." The husband and wife were then tied together while the house was searched. The robbers escaped with $4 in cash. Mr. Stacy did not give the alarm until early Monday morning but by that time the thieves were gone to parts unknown.

STEAM ROADS ARE CUTTING EXPENSES

Freight Traffic is Lighter than for Years and Revenues are Greatly Reduced.

OPERATING FORCE SMALLER

Many Employees have been Reduced in Rank and Only Those Absolutely Needed are on Payroll.

Because of the slack business and the resulting material reduction in revenues the expenses of every department of the railroad companies operating through this city are being curtailed wherever it is possible to do so without interfering with the safety of travel and the efficiency of service. The retrenchment policy is being followed on all roads but as this city is the division center of the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad a greater number of local people are affected by the stroke at economy on that system. Freight traffic, according to railroad men, is lighter than has been known for years and an unusually small number of trains are operated daily and those that do run are short, consisting of thirty to forty cars.

Every department of the B. & O. Southwestern is feeling the result of the economy policy. The two yardmasters in this city have been reduced to the rank of yard foremen and the two newest men in that department of service have been placed on the extra board. There are so few trains coming into the yards that they can be handled by the foremen and there is no necessity of having yardmasters on the payroll.

In the maintenance of ways department the retrenchment policy is also noticed. All of the extra section crews have been notified that they are not needed and the regular track sections are reduced to the smaller number of men possible to keep the roadbed and bridges in a safe condition. It is said that a number of the regular men will be given several days' vacation for Thanksgiving and they may not be asked to report until after the first of next month. It is not only here that the section crews have been cut off but all along the division. It is pointed out that because of the reduced traffic and the light trains the wear and tear on the roadbed is not as great and there is no necessity of having a large number of extra men on the payroll. No extension work is being done and all are employed to keep the track in its usual first class condition.

For some time the trainmen and engineers have seen the trend of the situation and when a number of conductors and engineers were reduced to the rank of brakemen and firemen there was no surprise. When these were "set back" a corresponding number were taken from the list on the extra board.

The retrenchment policy was inaugurated because of necessity. During the summer months and even as early as last spring traffic began to get lighter and railroad men say it has almost reached the "low water mark" now. They are hoping, of course, that business will pick up

SPIRIT OF SEASON FELT IN SEYMOUR

Many of the Display Windows have been Attractively Decorated for Thanksgiving.

HOLIDAY WILL BE OBSERVED

Traffic on Steam Roads and Traction
Lines Unusually Heavy—Popular
Visiting Time.

In the shop, in the home, on the street, everywhere in fact, the Thanksgiving spirit is abroad. The approaching holiday season is portrayed in the display windows of the various stores which have been appropriately and artistically decorated in keeping with the day. A number of the merchants have made an especial effort to decorate their stores which are unusually attractive. The windows are filled with goods that suggest Thanksgiving and are admired by the public.

The local merchants give more attention to their display windows than formerly with the result that it would be hard to find a city the size of this where more attractive and beautiful shops are found. With the excellent lines of goods that are carried in stock the merchants can exhibit the latest that is to be found everywhere. Such showings together with other seasonable decorations will not fail to draw the attention of the public.

Thanksgiving will be observed here in the usual manner. The stores will probably close at the noon hour for the day so that the dealers and their employees may have the benefit of the half-holiday. The banks will be closed throughout the day and the postoffice will observe the regulation holiday hours. The city carriers will make the usual morning delivery and the rural carriers will enjoy the full day's vacation.

The annual Thanksgiving service in which a number of the churches join will be held Thursday night at 7:30 o'clock at the St. Paul church. Rev. J. H. Carnes, pastor of the First M. E. church, will deliver the sermon.

The city schools will close Wednesday afternoon for the week and classes will not convene until Monday morning.

Some of the factories will close at least part of the day. In accordance with law the saloons will be required to close Wednesday night at 11 o'clock and will not be permitted to engage in business again until 5 o'clock Friday morning. On the railroads only the through trains will be operated so that all the employees possible will be given a day's rest.

Thanksgiving is the popular visiting season and hundreds of people will come here for Thursday. As a result of this custom the traffic on the railroads and interurban lines will be heavier than usual this week. The indications are that few Seymour people will visit elsewhere but will entertain many friends and relatives. Many families who are separated make an effort to hold reunions on Thanksgiving Day.

In order to prepare for the entertainment of the visitors who are expected arrangements are already being made in many homes and the Thanksgiving dinner is not being overlooked. As a result business, especially with the grocery stores, meat markets and fruit stores is unusually good and the rush will continue until the stores close on Thanksgiving Day. There is more than the ordinary activity in other lines of trade and the dealers expect to do a good business today and Wednesday.

JOSEPH L. EBNER FOUNDED ARTIFICIAL ICE BUSINESS

Vincennes Man Who Died Monday
Was Prominent in Business
Circles in That City.

Joseph L. Ebner, of Vincennes, whose death occurred Monday morning, was the first artificial ice manufacturer in Indiana. At the time of his death he was the president of the Ebner Ice & Cold Storage Company which operated several plants in Indiana. He was a brother of L. A. Ebner, of this city, who is also largely interested in the ice business.

Regarding Mr. Ebner's death the Vincennes Sun says:
In addition to serving as president of the Ebner Ice and Cold Storage Company, Mr. Ebner is vice president of the Vincennes Milk and Ice Cream Company. He is also a member of the board of directors of the First National bank, and for many years has been known as an important factor in the growth and prosperity of the city.

In 1887 Mr. Ebner was united in marriage to Miss Catherine Raben, who was born at St. Wendells, Ind., in 1874, a daughter of Anthony and Mary (Tenbarger) Raben, natives of Holland. Her father was engaged in a general merchandise business and had the distinction of being the oldest postmaster in the state at the time of his death. Mrs. Ebner departed this life January 24, 1894. By her marriage she became the mother of three daughters, all of whom are now living. Vivian, born in Vincennes in 1888, Laurine, in August 1891, and Mary, born in July, 1893.

For nineteen years Mr. Ebner has been a member of the Vincennes Board of Trade and the esteem in which he is held by his business associates as a man of sound business principles, a competent manager of important enterprises, and as a citizen who aims to discharge his duties in such a way as to enhance the prosperity and happiness of all with whom he is identified.

RUSSIAN ARMY NOW HOLDS ADVANTAGE

German Forces of General von Hindenberg in Poland are Placed on the Defensive.

END OF CAMPAIGN IMPORTANT

Kaiser's Army Has Withdrawn Twenty-five Miles at Several Points in the East.

By United Press.
London, November 24—The Prussian army of Grand Duke Nicholas now holds the advantage in Poland. For the moment the German forces of General von Hindenberg which struck boldly at Warsaw for a second time are placed upon the defensive. The Russian official statement today makes no claims of a great victory but the retreat of the line running southwest of Strykow is announced.

The German have withdrawn as much as twenty-five miles at some points. The two greatest strategists engaged in the present war are pitted against each other in von Hindenberg and the Russian grand duke.

During the past week Berlin declared the greatest hope of the eastern campaign was placed on the outcome of the Battle of Lodz. The German forces there, however, failed to move with those which advanced at other points.

PHOTO
By
FRANK FOURNIER

When the frost is on the punkin, and the fodder's in the shock,
And you hear the kyouck and gobble of the struttin' turkey-cock,
And the clackin' of the guineas and the cluckin' of the hens,
And the rooster's hallylooyer as he tiptoes on the fence;
O, it's then's the times a feller is a feelin' at his best,
With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,
As he leaves the house, bare-headed, and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the punkin, and the fodder's in the shock.

ADVERTISE In The Republican It Pays

CRAVENS NAMED DELEGATE FROM FOURTH DISTRICT

Indiana Towns, Cities and Counties May Send Representatives to State Tax Conference.

Among the delegates from the various Congressional districts in Indiana who have been named by Governor Ralston to the State Tax Conference which convened at Indianapolis next Tuesday is Joseph M. Cravens, of Madison, from this district.

Governor Ralston is to open the conference at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning. Letters from newly elected members of the legislature, which convenes in January, are indicating that they are coming in large numbers. Fred A. Sims, the executive secretary of the State Tax Association, expects to see most of the Indiana legislature here, judging from the letters he is receiving. There is no doubt that the tax problem is going to be before that body this winter.

"The report of the state board of tax commissioners, made on Saturday," said Mr. Sims, "certainly should attract the attention of the people of the state. It indicates that the old 'property tax system,' either because of defects in the system itself or because of administration, is getting in a bad way in this state. It has completely broken down in some other states and they have got away or are getting away from it. The state tax commissioners' report points to the fact that the rapid increase in rates in various taxing localities has reached a point where the tax rate equals or nearly equals, the income from intangibles. The result is found to be what it has been in other states—evasion of these easily evasive properties and the doubling up of the load on the tangible property. According to the report there are $5,404,747 less of the easily evasive intangibles on the duplicates this year than last.

"What is happening in Indiana, as reports to the state tax conference next will show and as reports at the Bloomington conference last February showed, has happened in other states, and they are at work bringing their taxing systems or administration up abreast of modern conditions. Just now intangibles are attracting attention, but there are other defects.

"The conference next week is to be an open forum discussion of the situation. It will begin with the session to be presided over by Governor Ralston, on 'Increase of Public Expenditures'—the steadily increasing demand of the people for more things that cost money. Then there will follow a session, on Tuesday afternoon, presided over by John H. Holiday, on the effect of high tax rates, and especial attention will be given to the effect on the farmer, who is the big taxpayer, the big borrower and the big interest payer. The third session, presided over by Charles F. Remy, former clerk of the supreme court, is to be on 'What Other States Are Doing, and it should be a very valuable session for the people of the state. The last session, Tuesday afternoon, will be on the question of what is wrong with the Indiana system—the system itself or its administration. John B. Stoll, the veteran northern Indiana editor, will preside at that session."

A large number of Indiana cities and towns, and most of the Indiana counties, all of them entitled to appoint delegates, have done so; and a large number of townships also have named delegates. Many state associations of various kinds, ranging from the manufacturers' and bankers' state associations and the Indiana Federation of Labor and Equal Franchise League, down the line to trade associations, and also the various state and county agricultural and horticultural associations are also naming delegates. Every indication is that the attendance at this second state conference will be larger than that at the first conference, held at the State University, and which drew people from all parts of the state.

REGIMENTAL STANDARDS ARE NOT SEEN IN THE FOREFRONT

However Colors Are Still Carried in Battle—Fierce Fights to Save Them.

(By William Philip Simms, United Press Staff Correspondent).

Paris, November 24, (By Mail to New York)—Although regimental standards are no longer carried in the forefront of the battle, modern methods of warfare have not altogether eliminated those picturesque "flags for the flag" dear to the heart of the novelist and painter. Most of the French and German regiments carry their colors with them and there have been several desperate fights for these silken trophies, the fiercest recorded being that for the standard of the Sixth Pomeranian Regiment, which now hangs in the Chapel of the Invalides for the inspection of French sight-seers. The story of its capture is told by a French Dragoon, whose regiment brought back the trophy.

"Under a heavy shell fire," he said, "Our guns supporting the Dragoons had to move to another position and the enemy thinking that we were in retreat hurried their advance, the Sixth Pomeranians coming up at the double. Suddenly three large shrapnel shells from their own guns burst over the regiment, doing terrible execution and throwing the whole column into confusion.

It was the right moment for us, and the Dragoons charged home with lances. The Germans rallied and formed into a square, but the volleys they fired were not sufficient to break the charge and we rode over them. Trampled on by the horses, sabred and transfixed by the lances, the Germans fled in wild confusion.

"One little group, however, was rallied by its officers near a small copse. We did not realize the motive of their resistance until we caught sight of a gold and purple flag fluttering in the breeze. They had rallied to save their flag. We rode up to them and shouted a demand for surrender, but the only reply was a volley which sent twenty horses cantering rideless back to our lines. Our officers ordered a charge in scattering formation and the gallant little group was ridden down.

"The flag fell from the hands of a German captain who had received a terrible sabre gash across the head. It disappeared for a minute in a turmoil of horses and struggling men, and then we saw it again waved defiantly by a German sergeant, who with three other men fought themselves free. They retreated shoulder to shoulder a few yards and then, with his back to a tree, the old sergeant was left alone with the flag. But he sank to the ground a moment his chest transfixed by a lance. He was a brave man.

When we brought the flag back we saw in golden letters across its torn and bloodstained folds the words "Champigny 1871."

THE BOSS ALWAYS KNEW

A newspaper man was trying to sell a merchant some advertising.

"If the boss wanted to advertise, he would do so," said his assistant.

"But he may not know the advantage it will be to him NOW," persisted the solicitor. "Oh, the boss always knows," said his assistant.

Six months later the newspaper man passed that way. The sheriff's sign was on the merchant's door.

"Yes," murmured the newspaper man to himself—"The boss always knows."

ONE GOOD ACCOMPLISHED.
(Scott County Journal, Dem.)
The voice of the people in the late election has at least had one good effect. It has been the means of convincing Governor Ralston that all his rant about the last legislature being the greatest for "constructive legisla- tion" ever convened in Indiana was known to be a huge joke to every- body but Mr. Ralston, and that had it not been for the endorsement of Pres- ident Wilson and Senator Shively, Indiana would have gone Republican. The following from the Courier-Journal correspondent at Indianapolis, "W. S. G.," shows how the election is having its effects on Ralston and his small coterie of politicians, who heretofore seemingly though the Dem- ocrats were in power indefinitely:
"The top-heavy list of appointees of former legislatures is to be cut to the bone, according to the present plans. In the last session of the general assembly there were some- thing like 125 employes of the house of representatives, the majority drawing $5 a day. There were some- thing like eighty-seven employes of the senate, which has a membership of fifty. This caused a great deal of criticism.
"The last legislature created the public service commission, appar- ently a popular act with the people. It gave the commissioners salaries of Tonight, at the Majestic Theatre, the second annual Lyceum Course, under the auspices of the Seymour Lyceum Entertainment Bureau, will be opened with a concert by the American Quartet. The committee has been busy delivering season tick- ets and announce that the sale has been very satisfactory. The seat sale for tonight's entertainment in- cures a large attendance.

The Course this year is excep- tionally good, and will include some of the best attractions in the Lyceum. It has cost the committee more than $100 over last year's course, yet the season tickets are offered at the same minimum price, $1.00. Re-

$6,000 each. Too much, say the Democrats now, who desire to see the party stay in power in Indiana. And so there is much talk of slicing these salaries to $4,500 annually or $5,000.
"The state oil inspector, the state bureau of printing and binding, the employees of several of the larger state offices and others may expect the fight of their lives in the coming session if they retain the raises in salary that the legislature of 1913 gave them.
"They are even talking of com- pletely wiping out the state board of accounts on the theory that it has served its usefulness and that some other state department might now be enlarged to take care of all the in- vestigation of accounts without the expense of many thousands of dol- lars annually.
"How Gov. Ralston feels on the major 'reforms' here set out, as being discussed by many Democrats, is not known, but how he feels on the ma- jority of such reforms, as lowering salaries and eliminating useless offi- ces, is well known. He is in favor of such things. He said he was two years ago, but the legislature ap- parently didn't listen to him.

"And now, getting down to the rea- sons for all these things, it is perti- nent to say that Benjamin F. Shively carried Indiana for United States senator by something like 47,500 plurality. Two years ago Ralston and Woodrow Wilson carried this state by more than 100,000 plurality. Two years ago Marion county, the most densely populated in the state, went Democratic by thousands. This year it went Republican by about 5,000 plurality."

HUGE TRACTS OF TIMBER
Devastated by Forest Fires in State of Arkansas.
Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 24.—The state of Arkansas, ablaze almost from end to end with forest fires devastat- ing huge tracts of timber on thousands of acres of land, is powerless to call on its militia as a fire-fighting organiza- tion. The depletion of the military funds and general disorganization of the guards, the governor declared, made such action impossible.
From Taxarkana, in the extreme southwest, to Jonesboro in the north- east, more than 300 miles, and from Fort Smith in the northwest to Helena in the southeast, the woods are burn- ing.
Boy Killed by Horse's Kick.
Sullivan, Ind., Nov. 24.—James Ed- ward Adams, thirteen years old, was killed when a horse which he was prodding with a pitchfork kicked the handle of the fork against the boy's neck, breaking the windpipe.
No Trace of Yeggs.

Two DONT'S to Remember in Buying DIAMONDS

DON'T judge a Diamond by its carat weight, its value depends more on the quality of the stone and its perfection cut.

DON'T buy from a house in which you have not the utmost confidence, it is highly important that you have expert advice when choosing a stone and the name of a reputable house back of this advice as a guarantee of its honesty.

Come in and have a talk with us if you are contemplating buying a Diamond at this time. We will be glad to give you the benefit of our experience in making this important purchase.

during the next few months and while the annual Christmas traffic will help the situation some a general revival of business is not looked for until spring, if it comes then.

There is a light movement of freight of all classes and in a number of the large freight houses the force of employees has been reduced. It is said that 300 men were taken from that department at Baltimore, and that other offices have suffered correspondingly.

According to railroad men a revival of business cannot be expected until there is more building and construction work throughout the United States. While the B. & O. depends upon the export business for some of its traffic the per cent. is comparatively small and the bulk of the freight comes from within this country. The freight traffic at this time consists very largely of oil and small shipments of merchandise.

RUSSIANS HALT THE GERMANS

Advance of Latter Checked.

CAMPAIGN IN POLAND

Apparant Retreat of Czar's Forces Merely Strategic.

LURED KAISER'S FORCES ON

Familiar Trick of Russian Arms Successfully Repeated.

Petrograd, Nov. 24.—The Germans have abandoned their main purpose of pressing the Russians along the banks of the Bzura. Toward their own artillery positions along the frontier southward from Kalisz the Germans are now on the defensive.

London, Nov. 24.—That the tide is turning in favor of the Russians once more in East Prussia and in the vital battles in Poland is indicated by dispatches received from correspondents in Petrograd containing unofficial news. The unofficial news is that the Russians defeated the Germans at Kutno, between the Warthe and the Vistula and twenty-five miles north-west of Lowicz and captured 12,000, and that the Russians have taken Gumbinnen in East Prussia, a town which had been a difficult obstacle in the advance toward Interburg.

The German general staff announced that the appearance of Russian reinforcements in Poland is postponing the decision of the battle in that region. This statement is taken to mean that the Russians are employing tactics similar to the stroke which turned the Germans back from Warsaw on Oct. 18—suddenly striking with a large body of fresh troops which had been massed and held ready for the emergency. This strategy has been characteristic of Russian operations since the beginning of the war. Russian retreats have seldom been profitable to their opponents.

Situation in the West.

The important news from the fighting in the west mentioned a series of attacks by the Germans in the Argonne, north of Verdun. Paris says these attacks were repulsed after hard fighting. Berlin asserts that the German troops are gaining ground slowly. In Belgium and northern France artillery fighting continues and the Germans bombarded Ypres, the region of Soissons and Rheims.

The first "eye witness" story ever issued by the French government summarizes the operations from Nov. 19 to Nov. 21, and says that the German artillery attack has lessened in violence. The Germans are reported to be short of ammunition. The allied artillery has more than held its own.

Naval Loss For Germany.

The Germans have suffered a further naval loss—a destroyer, the S-12, accidentally sunk by a Danish steamer not far from Copenhagen, and a submarine, the U-18, discovered and rammed off the north coast of Scotland by a British patrol ship. The crews were rescued.

Turkey claims a victory over the British near El Kantara, just east of the Suez canal, and states that fighting is going on at the canal. A British force has occupied Basra on the Persian gulf.

England admits a defeat by the Germans in German East Africa, and that there were heavy losses.

Winston Churchill announced in the house of commons that three British aviators made a flight of 250 miles, 120 miles over German territory, and dropped bombs on the German Zeppelin factory at Friedrichshafen, damaging the factory and one Zeppelin. One aviator was captured.

Great Battle a Deadlock.

In Belgium and northern France the battle seems to have settled down to a constant and destructive cannonading, the Germans centering their bombardment of Ypres and nearby villages, on positions northeast of Soissons and on Rheims, in the east center of the line. Weather conditions and floods prevent extensive movements by infantry. It seems apparent from the official reports that neither side has obtained any important advantage, although the Germans are slowly ruining the town of Ypres.

It is unofficially reported that the Germans are rushing reinforcements to Belgium, getting ready, apparently, for another heavy assault when weather conditions become favorable. It is said that they are fortifying the coast with immense energy; that they are assembling submarines at Zeebrugge; that the manufacture of Zeppelins is being hurried and that there are signs that the German fleet is getting ready to leave its bases—all reports pointing to a German plan to attack England.

How To Succeed.

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well. So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of unsolicited letters received from former sufferers who claim they are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., enclose ten cents and mention this paper. They will promptly forward you a sample bottle by Parcel Post.

Russian Has Closed Up Saloons.

Farm and Fireside, the national farm paper published at Springfield, Ohio, contains in its current issue an editorial calling attention to the fact that the Russian government has laws derived a large income from taxes on vodka, the principal drink used in Russia. At the opening of the war, however, Russian decided to close all vodka shops. Following is an extract from the editorial:

"When the war opened Russia found in power certain men who had seen that the vodka evil was sapping the very life of Russia, and at once as a war measure, the liquor shops were closed. For the first time in their lives the peasants remained sober. They may have been intoxicated with the war fever sedulously preached to them by their priests at the behest of the Czar, but as for alcoholic intoxication, they were free of it.

"The results are said to be marvelous. Even in the midst of the dreadful struggle of the war the peasants are better and happier than when they had the open vodka shop. They find that of the two evils war is less than drunkenness. They are living better, saving their small earnings in part, became better and more efficient men.

"If this experiment in prohibition is carried on to success as a permanent policy in Russia it will be the most complete demonstration of its benefits ever given to the world. It will show just what the evils of vodka were.

War's Effect on Our Importations.

In considering the industrial situation created by the European war we must keep in mind these three things:

(1) All foreign merchandise imported into the United States is less than 10 per cent. of the merchandise consumed here, reaching an annual total, however, of the enormous sum of about two billions of dollars.

(2) Of such goods as cotton, woolens, lines, silks, laces, hosiery, gloves, which make up most of our imports of dry goods, there was in bond on October 1, in New York, scarcely a million dollars less than last year at that time, making less than a 10 per cent. shortage.

(3) The shortage of foreign merchandise, due to the war, will be felt very little this fall and winter, as shipments the generally completed. The great shortage, if war continues, will come next spring.—From "Made In America," by Joseph H. Appel, in the American Review of Reviews for November.

The December American.

In the December American Magazine David Grayson, famous as the author of "Adventures in Contentment" and "The Friendly Road," begins a new serial novel entitled "Hempfield" which promises to be even more interesting than his early successes.

In the same issue Will Irwin, war correspondent for this publication, presents a dramatic account of the effects of the war as he has personally observed them in France, Belgium, England and parts of Germany: Ida M. Tarbell contributes the second article in her new series, "The Golden Rule in Business"; Stewart Edward White reports his personal adventures hunting elephants in Africa; Ray Stannard Baker, writing under the title, "Wilson—After Twenty Months," gives an intimate picture of the President in the White House in war time.

David O. Dunn and daughter, Miss Ruth, went to Indianapolis this morning to spend the day.

MANY HOSSIERS WOUNDED BY DREADED TUBERCULOSIS

Indiana Red Cross Seals Commission Offers Way to Fight the Disease Which Sweeps State.

Indianapolis, November 24—More than 15,000 Hoosiers have been wounded in the past few months through the death dealing agency of tuberculosis, according to a statement issued by the Indiana Red Cross Seals Commission. The battle between the legions of health and the sharpshooters under the direction of General Tuberculosis, has swayed back and forth from the sand strewn shore of Lake Michigan to the willow tipped banks of the Ohio.

In the path of the two armies, nurses, physicians and other relief agencies are working today, trying to mend wounds inflicted by the poisoned darts of the sharpshooters. Great torn bleeding places in the chest, knee caps and hip joints shot away by the destructive forces of the invading army, internal injuries these are the most common of the many wounds inflicted. Orphan asylums, poor houses, hospitals and other relief agencies are congested with the overflow from this Hoosier battlefield. The "war tax" thus caused is enormous. Up to this time the citizens of Indiana have shown a disposition to patiently bear the burden caused by the levying of this indemnity.

But the Red Cross Seals Commission is pointing a way by which the invading army may be conquered. It is made possible for every man, woman and child in the state to help. The way is to buy Red Cross Christmas seals for use on all December mail and holiday packages. The seals sell for one cent each. If they have not been put on sale in your territory, you are invited to write to the headquarters of the commission, 203 Public Savings Insurance Building, Indianapolis.

Charles Inman, 424 East Chestnut Street, Hartford City, Ind., was desperately ill. He was advised to go to Fort Wayne for an operation.

Then he took Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy and in a short time was able to go back to work. In a letter he said:

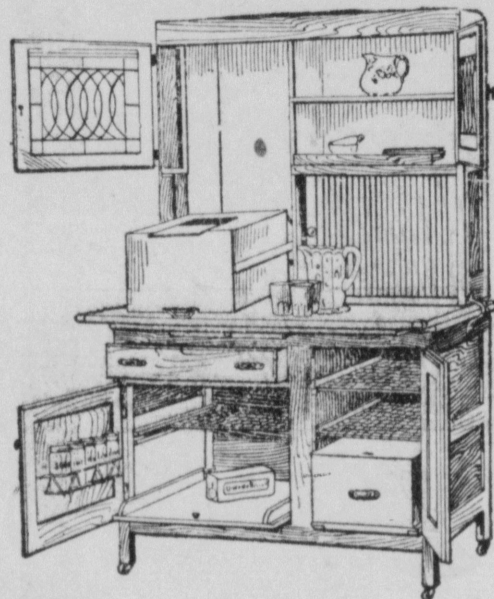

"My disease started seven years ago. I had to give up and go to bed. Four doctors said they could not cure me unless I went to Fort Wayne to be operated on, and that it would cost me $150 or $200. My daughter saw your advertisement and I took your treatment. In three weeks I went to work and haven't missed but one-half day since from sickness. It surely saved my life."

Similar stories of health restored are told in letters from people all over the United States. Mayr's Wonderful Stomach Remedy is known everywhere. The first dose proves—no long treatment.

GERMAN FORCES ENGAGED IN HOT BATTLE NEAR LODZ

Allies State That Enemy is Retreating After Fierce Fighting Along Vistula and Warthe.

By United Press.
Paris, November 24—German forces engaged in a hot battle about Lodz and fought back twenty-five miles west of that point. The official statement from the war office reports, "Favorable news" from the front. Along the Vistula and Warthe the Germans are retreating."

Other reports declare the Germans had reached Lodz and are not at Fadk.
An official statement today announces the "second bombardment of the ports of Libau and the Baltic by the German fleet."

The Germans made a special target of the most populous and open part of the town and then the statement says:

"A great number of inhabitants, a majority of them women and children, were victims of German assaults."

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not sleep, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

CHAPTER XI.

In Camp.

We went into camp under the landward glacis of the cliffs, in a field of clover which was to be plowed under in a few days. We all were there except Kelly Eyre, who had gone to telegraph the governor of Lorient for permission to enter the port with the circus. Another messenger also left camp on private business for me.

Presently we were all sitting around the long camp-table in the glare of two smoky petroleum torches, eating our bread and ham and potatoes and drinking Breton cider, a jug of which Mr. Horan had purchased for a few coppers.

The hard cider cheered Byram a little; he drew a cherished cigar from his vest pocket, offered it to me, and when I considerably refused, he carefully set it alight with a splinter from the fire. Its odor was indescribable.

Byram appeared to have recovered something of his buoyancy and native optimism.

"Gentlemen," he said, "let's kinder saunter over to the inn and have a night-cap with Kelly Eyre."

The lighted door of the inn hung ajar as we crossed the star-lit square; Byram entered and stood a moment in the doorway, stroking his chin. "Bong joor the company!" he said, lifting his battered hat.

The few Bretons in the winerom returned his civility; he glanced about and his eye fell on Kelly Eyre, Speed's assistant balloonist, seated by the window with Horan.

"Well, gents," said Byram, hopefully, "an' what a're the prospects of smilin' fortune when rosy-fingered dawn has come again to kiss us back to life?"

"Rotten," said Eyre, pushing a telegram across the oak table.

Byram's face fell; he picked up the telegram and fumbled in his coat for his spectacles with unsteady hand.

"Let me read it, governor," said Speed, and took the blue paper from Byram's unresisting, stubby fingers. "Oho!" he muttered, scanning the message; "well—well, it's not so bad as all that—"

"Well, sir?" said Byram, in a low voice.

"Well, governor? Oh—er—the telegram?" asked Speed, like a man fighting for time.

"Yes, the telegram," said Byram, patiently.

"Well, you see they have just heard of the terrible smash-up in the north, governor. Metz has surrendered with Bazaine's entire army. And they're naturally frightened at Lorient. . . . And . . . well . . . they won't let us pass the fortifications."

"Won't let us in?" cried Byram, hoarsely.

"I'm afraid not, governor."

Byram stared at us. We had counted on Lorient to pull us through as far as the frontier.

"Now don't take it so hard, governor," said Kelly Eyre; "I was frightened myself, at first, but I'm ashamed of it now. We'll pull through, anyhow."

"Certainly," said Speed, cheerily. "We'll drum up the whole district from Pontivy to Auray and from Penmarch Point to Plouharnel! Why should the Breton peasantry not come? Don't they walk miles to the Pardons?"

A gray pallor settled on Byram's sunken face, and with it came a certain dignity which sorrow sometimes brings even to men like him.

"Young gentlemen," he said, "I'm obliged to you. These here reverses come to everybody, I guess. The Lord knows best; but if he'll just lemme run my show a little longer, I'll pay my debts an' say, 'Thy will be done, amen!'"

After a painful silence he rose, steadying himself with his hand on Eyre's broad shoulder, and shambled

"Long Live the Republic! Long Live the Circus!"

out across the square, muttering something about his elephant and his camel.

Speed paid the insignificant bill, emptied his glass, and nodded at me. "It's all up," he said, soberly. "Let's come back to camp and talk it over," I said.

Together we traversed the square under the stars, and entered the field of clover. In the dim, smoky camp all lights were out except one oil-drenched torch stuck in the ground between the two tents.

Speed had some cigarettes, and he laid the pink package on the table. I lighted one when he did.

"Do you really think there's a chance?" he asked, presently.

"I don't know," I said.

"Well, we can try."

"Oh yes."

"I'll tell you what," Speed said, "if we only had that poor little girl, Miss Claridge, we'd catch these Bretons. That's what took the coast-folk all over Europe, so Grigg says."

Miss Claridge had performed in a large glass tank as the "Leaping Mermaid." It took like wildfire according to our fellow-performers. We had never seen her; she was killed by diving into her tank when the circus was at Antwerp in April.

"Can't we get up something like that?" I suggested, hopelessly.

"Who would do it? Miss Claridge's fish-tights are in the prop-box; who's to wear them?"

He began to say something else, but stopped suddenly, eyes fixed. Jacqueline stood behind me in the smoky light of the torch—Jacqueline, bare of arm and knee, with her sea-blue eyes very wide and the witch-locks clustering around the dim oval of her face. After a moment's absolute silence she said: "I came from Paradise. Don't you remember?"

"Of course I remember you, Jacqueline. And I have an idea you ought to be in bed."

"Won't you sit down?" asked Speed. "Thank you," said Jacqueline, gravely.

She seated herself on a sack of sawdust, clasping her slender hands between her knees, and looked earnestly at the elephant. Speed asked her, jestingly, why she did not join the circus. "It is what I wish," she said, under her breath.

"And ride white horses?"

"Will you take me?" she cried, passionately, springing to her feet.

Amazed at her earnestness, I tried to explain that such an idea was out of the question. She listened anxiously at first, then her eyes fell and she stood there in the torch-light, head hanging.

"I should like to see a circus," she said. "Then I should know what to do. That I can swing higher than any girl in Paradise has been demonstrated often," she went on, earnestly. "I can swim farther, I can dive deeper, I can run faster, with bare feet or with sabots, than anybody, man or woman, from the Beacon to Our Lady's chapel."

"So you can dive and swim?" asked Speed, with a glance at me.

"Like the salmon in the Laita, monsieur."

"Under water?"

"Parbleu!"

After a pause I asked her age.

"Fifteen, M'sieu Scarlett. Won't you take me?" she asked, sweetly.

"I'll tell you what I'll do, Jacqueline," said I. "Very early in the morning I'll go down to your house and see your father. Then, if he makes no objection, I'll get you to put on a pretty swimming suit, all made out of silver scales, and you can show me, there in the sea, how you can dive and swim and play at mermaid. Does that please you?"

She looked earnestly at me, then at Speed.

"Is it a promise?" she asked, in a quivering voice.

"Yes, Jacqueline."

"Then I thank you, M'sieu Scarlett. . . . and you, m'sieur. And I will be waiting for you when you come."

. . . We live in the house below the Saint-Julien light. . . . My father is pilot of the port. . . . Anybody will tell you. . . .

"I will not forget," said I.

She bade us good-night very prettily, stepped back out of the circle of torch-light, and vanished.

DEPAUW UNIVERSITY CO-EDS JOIN IN THE RELIEF WORK

Young Ladies Use Their Needles and Make Clothing for Destitute of Warring Countries.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Bacon, of this city, have received from their son, Fred, who is a student at DePauw University, a copy of the DePauw Daily which gives an account of how the "co-eds" at that institution have organized a society to aid the destitute people of Europe. The girls have planned to make clothing, shawls and other garments which will be sent to the people of Belgium and other countries involved in the terrible conflict.

The young ladies meet at the home of Mrs. G. R. Grose, wife of the president of the University, and Mrs. Edwin Post, whose husband is at the head of the Latin department, and make clothing which will be sent to Europe. Some of the garments will be cut out by experienced hands and will be taken home with the members of the society where they will be completed during the Thanksgiving holiday season. Over two hundred girls have signed membership cards and are aiding in the work.

Bandages will also be made and sent to the hospitals abroad. Greencastle physicians have offered the use of their bandage rollers and the girls will roll large quantities of cotton material which will be used in dressing the injuries of the soldiers. Over $100 has been raised for the purpose of buying material. Donations of yarn and long knitting needles have been made by those interested in the work and DePauw University students expect to do their share towards relieving the distress and suffering in Belgium and other countries.

Despondency Due to Indigestion.

It is not at all surprising that persons who have indigestion become discouraged and despondent. Here are a few words of hope and cheer for them by Mrs. Blanche Bowers, Indiana, Pa. "For years my digestion was so poor that I could only eat the lightest foods. I tried everything that I heard of to get relief, but not until about a year ago when I saw Chamberlain's Tablets advertised and got a bottle of them, did I find the right treatment. I soon began to improve, and since taking a few bottles of them my digestion is fine." For sale by all dealers.

THICK FOG INTERFERED WITH ARMY MOVEMENTS

Situation Along Entire Battle Front Remains Unchanged, Says French Statement.

By United Press.
Paris, November 24—A thick fog prevailing over the battle front interfered with operations yesterday and there was little fighting on the left. Bear in mind that Chamberlain's Tablets not only move the bowels but improve the appetite and strengthen the digestion. For sale by all dealers.

GUILTY OF A MISDEMEANOR

Henry Siegel's Case Thus Characterized by the Jury.

Geneseo, N. Y., Nov. 24.—The jury which has heard the testimony in Henry Siegel's trial for grand larceny found him guilty of a misdemeanor in obtaining credit on false financial statements. Justice Clarke sentenced him to pay a fine of $1,000 and to serve ten months in the Monroe county penitentiary at Rochester, but the judgment as far as the prison term is concerned is to be stayed until the second Monday in June, when Siegel is to appear here before Judge Clarke. If an effort has been made by that time to pay back depositors in the Siegel banks, the court will consider that fact; if not he is to serve the prison term as the court determined.

LIFE SAVERS ARE DROWNED

Ineffectual Effort to Save Passengers on Wrecked Schooner.

San Francisco, Nov. 24.—Five members of a crew of life savers trying to reach the steam schooner Hanalei, wrecked on Duxbury reef, nine miles north of San Francisco, were drowned last night. Two of the Hanalei's crew were drowned while trying to make their way through the surf with lines. Two passengers swam to safety.

The lives of fifty-five other men and women, who are clinging to sloping decks of the fast-breaking-up schooner, hang in the balance.

ticularly benefited by the new train and other people living in the neighborhood of those towns will also appreciate the service.

Some time ago when the matter was first discussed the B. & O. Southwestern Company proposed to hold the accommodation train, No. 27 here until 10 o'clock and then run it to Sparksville. However, it is reported that Nos. 26 and 27 are to be discontinued after next Sunday so that if the company agrees to the plan it will be necessary to make up a special train here.

Agent Massman was informed today that the guarantee amount had been made up by the Retail Merchants' Association and he at once took the matter up with the operating officials at Cincinnati. He expects a report not later than Wednesday.

The report that accommodation trains Nos. 26 and 27 were to be discontinued was discussed at the meeting of the Merchants' Association Monday night and the members regretted that the service could not be continued. After some discussion the following resolution protesting against the discontinuance of the trains was adopted unanimously:

"Resolved: That the Merchants' Protective Association, of Seymour, protest strongly against the B. & O. Southwestern Railroad Company taking off trains Nos. 26 and 27, and hope that they will reconsider the matter and decide to continue said trains."

A copy of the above resolution will be sent to Superintendent Hagerty.

Trains Nos. 26 and 27 have been operated from Cincinnati to Seymour for several months and the service is very convenient for those who have occasion to transact business in the cities and towns east of here. Formerly the train ran only to North Vernon and it is understood that the old schedule will again be resumed.

Best Cough Medicine for Children.

"Three years ago when I was living in Pittsburgh one of my children had a hard cold and coughed dreadfully. Upon the advice of a druggist I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and it benefited him at once. I find it the best cough medicine for children because it is pleasant to take. They do not object to taking it," writes Mrs. Lafayette Tuck, Homer City, Pa. This remedy contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. Sold by all dealers.

Mrs. H. C. McCoun came from Medora Monday evening and was the guest over night of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hughes.

Mrs. John England of Jeffersonville, came Monday evening to spend a few days with Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Dunn.

Miss Emma Smith went to Medora this morning to spend Thanksgiving with her sister, Mrs. Johnson.

WOMAN NERVOUS, WEAK AND DIZZY

Could Not Do Housework for Family of Three. Vinol in a Short Time Made Her a Strong Well Woman.

Fort Edward, N. Y.—"I was in a run-down condition, nervous, weak and dizzy, so that in doing the housework for my little family of three, I would be all exhausted. I tried cod liver oil emulsions and three or four other medicines without benefit. Finally a friend told me about Vinol and I tried it. I soon felt better and now it has built up my strength, I have no more nervous or dizzy spells, and can do all my housework without getting all tired out."—Mrs. ELMER GLIDDEN, Fort Edward, N. Y.

Women are so active nowadays, and so much is expected of them, that they constantly overdo and suffer from headaches, backache, nervousness and kindred ills. Vinol is a most efficient strength creator for such women.

It is the medicinal elements of the cod's liver, aided by the blood making and strengthening properties of tonic iron which makes it so far superior to all other tonics.

If you are in this condition try Vinol on our guarantee to return your money if it fails.

STORY OF SUFFERING IN BELGIUM TOLD IN DISPATCH

Thousand Women, Scantily Clad, Stand in Snow and Cold at Antwerp Awaiting Food.

By United Press.
London, Nov. 24—The story of the terrible suffering of Belgians was received here today from a correspondent at Rotterdam.

"At Antwerp 1,000 scantily clad women stood, in the snow and cold awaiting food," the message stated. "At Malies so acute was the suffering of the men and women that some clawed our hands ravenously necessitating the use of peroxide to prevent infection."

Refrigerator Candy Case.

A new refrigerator candy case, the first to be seen in this city, has been installed in the Carter Drug store and is a very attractive fixture. The frame is of metal and is enameled white. In the center of the case is a space for ice which keeps the interior at an even temperature during the summer months, a time when it is extremely difficult to carry certain kinds of confectionery. The case is of such size that it will hold a large stock. Mr. Carter is one of the aggressive dealers in this city and is always on the alert for improvements which will enable him to accommodate his trade in the best possible manner.
